COJ to begin regular news briefings

Starting next week, the City of Jonesboro will host regular news conferences on alternating Mondays.

The briefings will provide an opportunity for media to learn about ongoing projects and interview Mayor Harold Perrin and other city leaders about issues and concerns involving Jonesboro.

The news conferences will be held at 11 a.m. on the second and fourth Mondays of each month in the chambers of the City Council at the Municipal Building, 300 S. Church St.

In addition to updates on city projects, the mayor and/or select department heads will be available for group or one-on-one interviews. If you would like to speak to anyone in specific, please give advance notice and we will make every effort to have that person available.

The meetings should last roughly 30 minutes.
